September 10 & 11, 2026 - St. Michaels, MD

Guyette & Deeter’s September Fine Sporting Arms Auction realized total sales of over $3.1 million, capping off a sale that captured the sporting life in every form — from fine guns to sporting art, watches, knives, and decoys.

Firearms led the way, headlined by a Parker AAHE 20 bore shotgun, the first 20-gauge AAHE ever made, which brought $102,000. A .410 bore Parker with its original 28” barrels — the only 28” G Grade .410 documented in The Parker Story — sold for $132,000. A factory-documented Winchester Model 21 Grand American .410 bore, accompanied by a Cody Museum research letter, realized $96,000. A fine James Purdey and Sons 28 bore shotgun with its original case, a piece worthy of any advanced collection, brought $114,000. An exceptional factory L.D. Nimschke engraved Henry Rifle, featuring Nimschke’s engraving and a silver-plated buttplate, sold for $108,000, while a rare antique 19th-century 2 bore punt gun brought $18,000.

Sporting art was equally strong, led by a Lynn Bogue Hunt illustration for a 1929 Field and Stream cover, which sold for $33,600.

There is no G&D sale without decoys! A pair of Ward Brothers canvasbacks brought $22,800 and a second pair selling for $18,000. A John Blair Jr. swimming bluebill also drew strong interest, selling for $11,700.

Collectors also turned out for a 2026 40mm Platinum Rolex Day-Date, featuring an ice blue dial with roman numeral hour markers and complete with its original bag, box, outer box, hang tag, and papers, which brought $75,000. Additionally, a 1998 Rolex Yacht Master two-tone for with original case and service card sold for $14,400.

Three R.W. Loveless knives each sold in the $2,000-$2,700 range, showing continued strong demand for the category.
